“Message from the President”

Dear Delegates,

We are delighted to welcome you to our Annual International Society for Reproductive Surgery Conference ‘Practical and Scientific approach to Reproductive Surgery in the Modern Era’ at St George’s University Hospital, London on the 7th and 8th of November. I am sure you will enjoy the wide range of topics covered over the next two days with particular emphasis on surgical technique and the scientific and clinical relevance. For the first time we are holding a pelvic anatomy workshop conducted by Mr Paul Carter, Director of Anatomy at St George’s University of London. We have amongst us world renowned surgeon Dr Shailesh Puntambekar who will demonstrate laparoscopy skills for uterine transplant at the workshop.

We have some exciting keynote lectures on prevention of adhesions during surgery, Tips on Hysteroscopy and Fertility preservation for Transgender patients. We, for the first time, have a guest lecture in the evening which is free for all to attend. Our speakers are Claus Yding Andersen from Denmark on the future of ovarian tissue cryopreservation and current and future place for Tubal Microsurgery by Victor Gomel from Canada.

I hope you enjoy the meeting and would encourage you to give us a feedback for our future meetings and if this something that interests then please complete the membership forms in your pack. We have made the membership free for all to encourage reproductive surgery.

Kamal Ojha
